

Business Continuity Planning

Have you planned for a possible office shutdown or travel restrictions due to the Coronavirus outbreak? Remote access could be a security risk. Are you sure that you can provide secure remote access to company information and equipment?

Fijoport is a cost-effective solution that allows you and other authorised users access the company IT equipment without compromising security.

We have a proven track record with over 20,000 Fijoport users in the EU.

Fijoport provides a dedicated hardware-based remote access point to your business. You alone will have the power to control access and conduct remote activity. The Fijoport device engages in a secure encrypted way with just one other remote gateway device, effectively isolating your business-critical systems from the dangers associated with internet connectivity.

The damage from a cyber-attack could be very costly, Fijoport can protect your business and still allow the remote connection you need. It requires no expertise to install.

How much is it?

From as little as €250, we will provide you and your employees with total peace of mind and ensure that your company can continue operations safely during this period of uncertainty. For more information, email us on sales@fijowave.com
